The Statesman says that Hon A B Meacham is on the way from San Francisco by the steamer which sailed from there on Wednesday

Sam Higley of Salem beat his wife and daughter a few days ago and decamped from home Nothing has been heard from him since

The project of constructing a ditch to bring water from Butte creek for working the mines about Jacksonville and Willow Springs is talked of at the first named place

The San Francisco Bulletin's Washington correspondence states that Senator Kelly of Oregon is assigned positions on the Pacific Railroad and Postal Committees, as usual with members of the minority, "at the tail end" of each By the retirement of Senator Williams the Pacific coast loses all representation on the Finance Committee and on Public Lands

From the Salem Statesman, Mr Myers is in our city, and we learn that he expects to commence work on the buildings for the manufacture of agricultural machinery and have them enclosed this fall He is prudent in his management, and explained his plans sufficiently to show that he is earnest in the enterprise which we hope will be successfully carried through

The Northern Pacific Railroad

PORTLAND, April 6, 1871

EDITOR OREGONIAN

Now that the early completion of the Northern Pacific Railroad is placed beyond a doubt it is a pleasure to many of the old settlers of the Northwest to hear how much of its success has been contributed to by some of our citizens Foremost amongst those who have, by devoting time and money to bringing this grand enterprise to a final success we need but mention the name of Philip Ritz Esq of Walla Walla, and General James Tilton now of Portland Both of these gentlemen from the first inception of the enterprise have been amongst its most earnest and active friends

Mr Ritz has spent the greater portion of four years in examining every pass and route from the upper Columbia river to the head waters of the Missouri, Yellowstone and Snake rivers—having crossed the Rocky mountains in search of the most feasible route thirteen times, and three times during midwinter has crossed the continent On one of these winter trips he traveled 2 700 miles by horse and stage, so as to ascertain from practical observation the depth of snow and range of thermometer To show how enthusiastic he has been in this enterprise, we need only cite the fact that he has expended of his own money $15,000 in traveling to and fro over the Rocky mountains and other ranges, to ascertain any and all facts that might prove advantageous to the enterprise, and in laying before the general public and capitalists his knowledge thus acquired In 1868 he wrote a letter upon the "Agricultural and Mineral Resources of the Northwestern Territories, to the Senate and House of Representatives, of which 30,000 copies were printed and circulated

Gen. Tilton aided not a little in this great enterprise in the Eastern States, in attracting the attention of capitalists and also in obtaining favorable legislation The following tribute written and signed by some of the leading men of the North Pacific Railroad Company (whose names I append) will be read with interest

Camp No 6, North Pacific Railroad Expedition, Washington Territory six miles north of Spokane river July 28 1869—Philip Ritz Esq, of Walla Walla, W T—Dear Sir With sincere regret we learn that business and family calls upon your time, will oblige you to leave our party and return to your beautiful rural home in Walla Walla

During the six weeks that you have favored us with your company, we have derived important aid from your counsels and a vast amount of valuable information connected with the object of our expedition, for which we and, we trust, others to whom the information will be communicated, will ever hold in grateful remembrance

We do not offer these expressions out of mere compliment, but as a token of our appreciation of your uniform kind attention, and of the essential service you have gratuitously rendered

During the few weeks we have accompanied each other in the important reconnoissance we are now making, we have seen more than we have ever before met with in the same space of time, and we are glad to have it in our power to say that your glowing statements of the natural advantages of this wonderful region on the Pacific slope have not been over stated, that as far as we have advanced from Puget Sound on our way to the summit of the main divide between the Pacific and Atlantic waters, they are fully sustained

It due time, at no distant period, when the Northern Pacific Railroad shall have become a fixed fact, and when daily trains of cars shall be passing between Puget Sound and Columbia river and the Atlantic cities, your name will be honorably associated among the pioneers who have been instrumental in securing public attention to this remarkable route and in hastening the actual construction of a grand trunk continental railroad over it

We would fain press you to continue with us all the way through to the smooth plains of the Missouri river, but we have not the heart to ask more from you at this time You will carry home with you the hearty good wishes of every member of this expedition, and their prayers for your future welfare and happiness wherever you may be

Gratefully your friends

THOMAS H CANFIELD,
W MILNOR ROBERTS,
SAMUEL WILKESON,
W F JOHNSON,
W L C MOREHEAD

Several parties Mr Editor, have requested that these facts be made public here as a slight recompense to those whose names are above mentioned—Mr Ritz and General Tilton. By inserting the above you will oblige myself and several others J

ABSENCE OF MIND —Macaulay remarks that absent-mindedness is the mark of either a genius or a fool We think that Macaulay was a little on one of its sides A man's mind may be so intensely occupied with lofty intuitions and inspirations that his senses, seemingly, are scarcely awake to the realities of the tangible world

A certain Scottish professor was not more remarkable for his writing on political economy than for his frequent unconsciousness of what passed before him His absence of mind was so remarkable that his wife once wagered that she would accost him in the street, inquire after the health of herself and family and he would not recognize her She actually won the wager The professor once took a solitary walk on the banks of a canal into which in his abstraction he walked When within a yard of the center an honest woman washing clothes behind him bawled out, "Come oot come oot fule body, or ye ll be droon t. These warning sounds invading the tympanum of his professional ear had the effect of making him turn right about and forthwith recover the dry land The good woman, concluding he was an idiot sympathetically exclaimed 'Puir body' aweel they hae muckle to answer for that lets ye gang yer lane"

The Connecticut Election.

HARTFORD (Conn) April 4 —The election is so close it will require the official vote to determine who is elected Governor The Democrats claim eight majority for English and the Republicans claim for Jewell The vote on Congressmen in the 2d District is close The Rep[illegible] Kellogg elected by nine votes The Democrats refuse to concede it The Post attributes the large Republican gains [illegible] vote in the State is very [illegible] and two Republican Congressmen [illegible] it thinks The Sun claims Jewell's election over 100 majority, and thinks the Congressional delegation unchanged The Legislature is Republican The Tribune is certain the entire Republican ticket and Strong and Starkweather for Congress are elected, but cannot believe that Kellogg is elected until full returns are received The Democrat concedes 209 Republican majority in the State and probably the election of three Republican Congressmen

NEW YORK April 5 —A dispatch from Hartford at 2 o clock this morning says that English Democrat has 16 majority, with possibly, 40 more If Stanford gave Jewell 104, instead of 14, as reported it is probable there will be a failure to elect by the people The Senate will have a Republican majority Strong, Republican for Congress, 334 majority. Kellogg, Republican 40, Starkweather, Republican, has about 1 000 and Barnum, Democrat, 900

EVENING "POST" OFFICE, HARTFORD, April 5 —Our corrected returns give English 5 plurality There are slight discrepances in the votes of two or three towns, but giving English the benefit of all doubts he cannot have more than 25 or 30 plurality, and there are scattering votes enough to overcome that and send the election to the Legislature There is an alleged mistake of 24 in the count of Enfield, which, if corrected, will be in our favor Our figures put Jewell 19 ahead The official vote alone will settle it beyond a doubt

St Louis Election

ST LOUIS, April 5 —At the city election yesterday the Democrats elected their ticket by majorities ranging from 1 375 to 3,000 Of 12 Aldermen elected 10 are Democrats, which makes the Council a tie The total vote was 20,000, out of a registration of 28,000

Excitement in South Carolina.

NEW YORK, April 4 —A special dispatch says great excitement exists in Columbia S C The streets are patrolled by colored soldiers and the police are in apprehension of a riot, caused by the proclamation of Gov Scott dispensing with the intended parade of colored militia on account of the bitter and excited nature of political opinion at this time His order is issued in deference to the wishes of the citizens The militia are very bitter

FRIDAY MORNING, APRIL 7, 1871.

Organization.

We are rapidly tending toward another Presidential contest. Almost before we are aware of it, it will be upon us. That it will be hot and embittered almost beyond precedent is very evident. The Republican party will need to stop its dissensions, call up its reserves and put forth its strength in a concerted and organized effort. With that, the triumph will be sure.

The true secret of all political success is organization. Without organization the best cause that ever enlisted the enthusiasm of mankind will fail. It is the fate of progress to be constantly balked by want of organization, because it is the nature of progressive minds to act independently of each other; while the strength of Conservatism lies in the mental inertia of the ignorant who are content to be led by a few. Their thoughts are but the blind offspring of habit trod out in the daily round of life. A new idea gives them pain, and they crucify reformers as impostors. When convinced of their inability to conquer, they mass themselves in solid phalanx and stolidly oppose to all reason the latent power of non-resistance. In this way we behold superstitions, hoary with the frost of centuries, quietly expanding amidst surrounding reformations.

The Republican party is a party of positive principles; the Democratic is a party of negative convictions. Republican ideas take the form of a positive creed. The propositions of that party are abstract to meet the requirements of an intellectual law. Its methods, like all methods devised by man, are faulty and short-sighted enough. These often offend the friends of its principles, and they confound the one with the other and fall out of line. Independent in thought and action, less amenable to more party drill than the ignorant and prejudiced masses of the Democratic party, the Republicans are harder to be kept under efficient organization. Let them remember, however, that organization is the first essential of success. Before the exigencies of the present crisis all personal differences and aspirations should vanish into thin air. The duty of to-day is that of the patriot, not the partisan. We are struggling for a great cause, not the triumph of men. If there are men among us who value that cause less than their own advancement, let us set them aside. The Republican party is greater and wiser than any man in it, and while it cordially invites the co-operation of every one, it must submit to the dictation of no one.

There are voters enough to unite with us, who shrink from the perils of a Democratic success in a national contest, to assure us a victory. But it is none the less necessary for us to organize and work for the desired result.

Certain papers like the Chicago Tribune, professedly Republican, but always censuring the acts and measures of the Republican party, are talking a great deal of nonsense about the selection by the Senate of another man than Sumner for the Chairmanship of the Committee on Foreign Relations, as being a surrender of the independence of the Senate to Executive dictation," and all that sort of thing, and wants to know by what right twenty-six men sitting in caucus at Washington dictate who shall be the Chairman of that committee. The sufficient answer to this outburst of foolishness is that Mr. Sumner owed his original selection as chairman of that committee to a caucus of Republican Senators; that he owed his retention from session to session in that position to the same authority, and that the authority which is competent on the re-organization of committees at the beginning of a new Congress to select one man is equally competent to select another. Nor has the competency of that authority ever been disputed heretofore.

Will those who are talking about the "iron monopoly" which it is asserted the present tariff produces, please make a note of the fact that by the tariff of 1824 pig iron paid a duty of $10 per ton, and by the tariff of 1828, a duty of $12 50 per ton? Will they also make a note of it that these tariffs were supported by Col. Benton, Gen. Jackson, Martin Van Buren, James Buchanan and Silas Wright? Pig iron now pays a duty of $7 per ton. Were the eminent Democrats above named the "tools of monopolists?"

THE TERRITORIES.

Williams will start soon from Yakima for Montana with a drove of 3,000 sheep.

We learn by the Idaho City World that Dennis Crowley, charged with the murder of Dennis McCarty, at Granite creek, on March 21st, was admitted to bail in the sum of $10,000, which was given and the prisoner discharged.

There is not so much demand for Indian horses at Walla Walla as is usually the case at this season of the year. They sell at auction at prices ranging from ten to twenty dollars, owing to quality [illegible]ly the bidder wants them.

[illegible] wheat sold to a Boise valley miller was [illegible] to such an extent that each sack panned out [illegible] of sand. A local paper says it has heard of sandering hay, graveling coffee, sanding sugar and watering whisky, but this is the first instance on record of making wheat heavy by the introduction of sand.

From the Walla Walla Real Estate Record: There is less excitement on account of mines this spring than we have ever had at this season of the year since the settlement of the valley. This is attributable principally to the fact that there is no newly discovered camp to attract the attention of the miner and prospector. Heretofore every summer and autumn the prospectors have discovered some new mines which caused a rush to them the next spring; but nothing of any importance was discovered last year, hence, there is no rush in any direction.

A BEAUTIFUL INCIDENT.—A gentleman relates that many years ago he was on a visit to the Isle of Man, and during his walks he strolled into the quiet churchyard, where repose the bodies of many a faithful and humble. Near a grave in a corner of the churchyard he noticed a lady with a little girl (the latter about twelve years of age) to whom she was relating the story of the dairyman's daughter, whose remains lay beneath their feet. As the lady proceeded with the narrative, he observed the little girl lift up her eyes filled with tears, and heard her say that she would try and be as good as the dairyman's daughter had been. After planting a beautiful lily on the grave, they walked slowly away. The gentleman, upon making inquiry, found that the lady was Duchess of Kent and the little girl her daughter. The latter is now the Queen of England.

It is said of Sir Isaac Newton that he often forgot to eat his dinner, which his housekeeper was accustomed to leave in a closet near his study. His head was too much in the heavens to mind the earth; so a friend, knowing his peculiarity, one day slipped his dinner out of the basket and ate it up. When at last the philosopher came out and greeted his friend, he asked to be excused till he took his lunch. On looking into the basket and finding it gone, he simply exclaimed, much to his friend's amusement, "Oh, I forgot, I have eaten my dinner."

EASTERN DATES TO APRIL 5.

EUROPE.

Circulars from Thiers.

VERSAILLES, April 6.—Thiers has issued a circular stating that Government troops had entered Marseilles, taking 500 prisoners. The Committee fled. Warrants are issued for their arrest, which are valid throughout France. Tranquility prevails, allowing reinforcements to be sent to Algiers.

Thiers issued another circular, stating that slight disturbances had occurred at Limoges. The Communists assassinated a Colonel, but were soon suppressed. Forts Issy and Vaurras will be attacked. The insurgents are alarmed and are proscribing one another, except in Paris. The towns rally to support the Government.

MADRID, April 5.—In the Cortes the Minister for the Colonies contradicted the report that the United States proposed to purchase the West Indies. The honor of Spain forbids the sale.

WASHINGTON CITY

Congressional.

WASHINGTON, April 5.—In the House Dawes admitted that the [Ku-Klux] bill had faults which could not be amended, but said he would vote for the principles of the bill. Shellabarger moved an amendment in the place of the 2d, 3d and 4th sections, which was ordered printed. An amendment based on the bill offered by Cook excludes the provision for a declaration of martial law. The privilege of the writ of habeas corpus can't be suspended unless the Government so require it, to aid in putting down violence. The debate continued under the ten minutes rule, a number taking part.

At the suggestion of Dawes the deficiency bill as returned from the Senate with the amendments, was referred to the Committee of Appropriations of the last Congress. A bitter and abusive personal debate occurred between Butler of Massachusetts, and Swann of Maryland, at the close of which President's message, communicating the San Domingo Commissioners' report, was received. A motion was made to refer the message to the Committee on Foreign Relations, when appointed, and for it to be printed. Without disposing of the motion the House adjourned.

In the Senate, at the suggestion of Casserly, the time for taking a vote was extended from 3 to 3:30, to allow the minority opportunity to examine the amendments. Pool addressed the Senate in explanation and defense of his political course and of the Republican party in the administration in North Carolina, occupying the floor till 3 P. M. The President said the next half hour would be accorded the minority exclusively, under the previous arrangement. The amendment offered by Thurman, in the form of a substitute, directing the Judiciary Committee to inquire what Constitutional powers of the Federal Government to prevent, suppress or punish acts of violence, or a combination of persons to commit such acts, and report by bill or otherwise, was rejected by a party vote. The resolution was amended so as to direct the Judiciary Committee to report by bill as early as possible, and adopted by a party vote, 30 to 11.

Blair offered a resolution asking the Attorney General to send the arguments made by him on the part of the Government with the counsel for Yerger, charged with the murder of Crane, in the Supreme Court of the United States, asking jurisdiction of the same. The resolution was laid over temporarily.

The Senate had a brief executive session. When the doors were opened the message of the President, submitting the report of the San Domingo Commissioners, was received. After discussion the message was laid on the table. The question then announced by the Vice President was, would the Senate consider the President's message this session. On motion of Chandler, this was tabled; ayes 27, nays 16.

Harlan asked unanimous consent for printing the message. Agreed to. Senate adjourned.

WASHINGTON, April 4.—In the House to-day, Butler, of Mass., in a speech on the Ku Klux bill, charged all the troubles on the Democratic party. He defended the President from the charge, that he is seeking to overthrow the liberties of the people, to make himself supreme Dictator. The discussion was continued by Cox and Roberts, in opposition to Coburn and in favor of the bill, till 5 P. M.

In the Senate Blair concluded his speech commenced yesterday.

Sherman argued that Blair had at first denied the occurrence of outrages in the South and subsequently admitted it to help his argument as to the result of mal-administration in the South. The whole of that Senator's arguments indicated that it is the purpose of the Democratic party that negro suffrage shall be overthrown, and they intend to make this a test in the next Presidential election.

In the House at the evening session Porter, of Virginia, and Stevenson, of Ohio, spoke on the Ku Klux outrages and advocated the bill. Goldby, of Tennessee, opposed it. Other gentlemen took part in the proceedings.

WASHINGTON, April 4.—The San Domingo Commissioners met to day, with the expectation of finishing their report. At least one more session must be held before it can be completed. It is not certain, therefore, that the report will be made to the President and transmitted to Congress to-morrow.

Several Republican Senators have prepared speeches against annexation, which they will, if possible, deliver upon the reception of the report of the Commissioners, with the view of securing immediate adverse action on the project.

The appropriations made during the session of the XLIst Congress amount to $174,488,062.

It is now certain that the bill to enforce the Fourteenth Amendment cannot be passed without material alteration.

The Secretary of the Dominican Republic has written a letter, dated San Domingo, March 10th, to the Secretary of the San Domingo Commission. He says the country is tranquil, and every day more anxious that our annexation to the Great Republic be speedily and favorably accomplished. I can see no other salvation from the insidious intrigues of our western neighbors. The President returned to the capital from Azua, after worsting Cabral and leaving everything there in the best order.

EASTERN STATES.

Later from the Connecticut Election.

HARTFORD, April 5.—A revised account of votes furnished by town clerks gives English a majority of 17, with a probability of scattering votes enough to put the election into the General Assembly.

Congressional majorities are as follows: 1st Congressional District, Strong, 273; 2d District, Kellogg, 47; 4th District, Barnum, 181; 3d District, Starkweather, 1,463. The Legislature stands, Senate 18 Republicans to 8 Democrats; House, 130 Republicans to 108 Democrats. The Times throws out twenty-three Republican votes in Chesshire which Republican papers count and makes English's majority 32. The Post figures his majority at 12, and scattering 14. It claims that the election will go to the Legislature, but some of those votes returned as scattering will be counted by canvassers. The chances are now about even with possibility of slight odds in favor of Jewell, and the possibility that Nicholas, Republican, for State Treasurer is elected.

CANADA.

TORONTO, April 5.—Winnipeg dates to March 18th are received. Parliament is in session, working harmoniously. The Attorney General was going to introduce a new Supreme Court bill. It is said to be very simple, and does not copy the French law of the province. The Indians are looking uneasily for a settlement from the home government for their lands.

WEST INDIES.

HAVANA, April 5.—Advices from Hayti state that great excitement continues over the annexation question. Otherwise the Republic is quiet.

CARACAS, March 25.—The country is quiet. The political prisoners belonging to the fallen party are released. Business is improving. Gen. Rojas, who is accused of conspiracy against the Government has been imprisoned. Gen. Rucsada with a party of Cubans is still in Caracas.

ST. THOMAS, April 5.—News is received of the defeat of Cabral's army by Baez, near Azua. It is reported that Luperon's army is making progress in the northern provinces. The country is anxious to see the annexation question settled.

CALIFORNIA.

From San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 4.—Eugene McCarthy, convicted of libel on Judge Tobin, attorney for the Hibernia Bank, in the Municipal Court, will be sentenced Saturday.

The British ship Golden Age, from Victoria for Callao, put in here last night in distress, leaking badly, having experienced heavy weather. It will be necessary to unload her.

S. L. Plimpton, of New York, sues M. Kimball, of this city, and the proprietors of the skating rinks at Stockton, Vallejo and elsewhere, for violation of his patent on skates, and avows his intention to sue the proprietors of all skating rinks on the Pacific coast and all patrons of the same using the skates complained of.

The trial of Eugene McCarthy, for libel, is now going on.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 6.—Rain fell from two A. M. to three and a half P. M. almost constantly. It began falling again in heavy showers soon after six this evening, and is still falling, heaviest rain of the season. Over an inch and a half has fallen since last night.

Thomas McDonald, driver on the railroad, was arrested to-day on a charge of assault to do bodily injury, having, as alleged, thrown a man from a car, in a quarrel. A wheel passed over the man's arm, frightfully mangling it.

John Stewart, a negro, brought to the calaboose drunk, died in his cell to-day.

Christiana Henrietta Bush, who attempted to commit suicide by jumping in the bay yesterday, it is ascertained, had been imported from New York by the keeper of one of the most notorious dens of prostitution in the city. As soon as she could get out of the place she attempted suicide but failed, being rescued before dead.

Mrs. Fair has been on the stand all day to day on cross-examination. She showed the most advanced woman's rights doctrine; said she was Crittenden's wife in the sight of God, because she loved him and he loved her, that standing up before Dr Scott with Snyder didn't make her Snyder's wife, because she didn't love him. She admitted being penniless just before making Crittenden's acquaintance, but had forty-five thousand dollars coin deposited in the Bank of California at the time of his murder, admitted having been regularly married four times; twice in New Orleans and twice here. Her first husband, Stone, died; second, Grasson, is still living, undivorced; third, Fair, committed suicide; fourth, Snyder. It is probable all the testimony will be got in by Friday night.

This evening as the Oakland ferry steamer was going over on her 5.15 trip, when abreast of Yerba Buena Island, a well dressed stranger, apparently between 50 and 60 years of age, sprang over the guards and drowned instantly.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 6.—The Lower California Mining Company are about to purchase the old Magdalena Mission—not Magdalena Bay—and port Paraiso on the gulf side of the Peninsula of California, to cultivate cane, tropical fruits, etc; capital $18,000, Trustees, F. L. Herrera, G. H. Behrens, Samuel Spring, W. Meeker, F. Gehricke, E. Rondel, M. G. Pritchard, Wm. Stuart and John Gorman. The Company was incorporated to-day.

Strawberries, at 50 cents per pound, wholesale, are becoming tolerably plenty in market.

Three celebrated greyhounds, from Ireland, arrived by Wells, Fargo & Co.'s Express this evening. The freight bill upon them is over $700.

Direct testimony in the Fair case is concluded. The letters first ruled out are being read now alternately by lawyers of opposing counsel.

Nine vessels are now up for Ochotsk and Choumagin Islands on fishing voyages.

Punshon is drawing paying houses every night.

This evening the streets are again dusty. A gale is still blowing.

Mortimer Flocke was accidentally drowned on the trip here from New York.

Public sale of the lots of the old Yerba Buena Plaza, contiguous to the new City Hall location, is announced for May 15th.

Negotiations for the sale of the Northern California or Petaluma Humboldt Bay Railroad to the California Pacific or Vallejo Company, is approaching successful issue. It will probably be consummated this week.

Arrived—Brk Maud Helin, Newcastle, N. S. W., care of J. C. Merrill & Co.; ship Derby, 132 days from New York, merchandise to C. Howe & Co.

John Romon, who pleaded guilty to the charge of burglary, in the municipal court, was sentenced to-day to three years and six months at San Quentin.

At the Auction sale of White House plat, Oakland, to-day, only five lots were sold at very low prices. The rest was withdrawn.

Col. Morrill, special agent of the Treasury Department, had Joe Goats arrested on a charge of assaulting him without provocation as he was going home last night. It is supposed the assault grew out of ill feeling on account of Morrill's efforts to break up a gang of smugglers and pilferers from the custom house, operating here some time.

The Fire Commissioners removed Ackerson, Chief Engineer, and elected ex-Chief volunteer Deputy David Scannell, in his place, by a vote of 4 to 2. Scannell's friends and exempt members of the old Fire Department, assembled with music, some wearing their old belts, hats and capes, for the purpose serenading him.

Mrs. Fair has been on the witness stand all the afternoon. Her testimony was frequently interrupted by sobbing, but is as clear and intelligible as that of a sane woman. She appeared to feel no delicacy in referring to the relations between herself and Crittenden, going over the ground from her first acquaintance to the evening previous to the shooting. She told Campbell, special counsel for the people, that if Crittenden was alive she would make him ask pardon of her on bended knees, for questions he asked her which she said were insulting. When she said this several persons applauded, and two woman's rights females who attend Court all the time, one of them reporting the case for a female suffrage organ in this city, clapped hands loudly, when Judge Dwinelle fined them $25 each for contempt of Court. The case is not expected to be concluded before Saturday.

Weather warm and cloudy. Wind fresh from the south. No rain during the day.

Sailed—Bark Envoy, Portland.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 4.—Sailed—Schooner Anne Stoffer, Coos Bay.

Arrived—Schooner N. L. Drew, Coos Bay.

SANTA CRUZ, April 6.—Yesterday morning the body of a man, evidently a sailor, was washed ashore near Majores beach, about six miles north of this city. Deceased was about 45 years of age, sandy complexion and beard, had on shirts and one pair of pants. A Coroner's inquest resulted in a verdict of "found drowned."

Yesterday Yellow Jacket mine deposited with the Bank of California four tons of silver bullion valued at $200,000.

HAMILTON, April 6.—In the lower part of this city, yesterday, a man named James McCarten was shot in the side by a man named James Gates. McCarten died from the effects of his wounds this morning. It appears Gates was about starting for Arizona, when a dispute about a debt arose between the parties named, during which Gates fired two shots, one of which took effect with above result.

Liquor selling in Wayne county, Ohio, is not an unmixed happiness. One hundred and fifty persons have been summoned before the Grand Jury there for the purpose of giving evidence whereon indictments against liquor dealers can be found. The wealthiest people of Wooster are backing up the prosecutors, and the indications are that the mischief making traffic will be utterly driven from the town.

FRIDAY MORNING, APRIL 7, 1871.

CITY.

HARDWARE STOCKS.—Among the m[illegible] striking things which a stranger finds upon [illegible] arrival at Portland, are the immense stocks [illegible] carried by our importers and wholesale [illegible]. The extent of some of these stocks is surprising even to those who have lived here for years and who have been totally conversant with the commercial affairs of the city. If we were to tell an Eastern man that in our city of 10,000 inhabitants, he could step into a hardware store for instance, and purchase an invoice of almost any thing to be found in similar houses in San Francisco or even in New York, he might be inclined to doubt the statement; but it is strictly true. And, as our heaviest dealers are large importers from the manufacturers, they can and do in [illegible] cut invoices for an amount of money so great [illegible] would be required to purchase [illegible] the goods in San Francisco. We went through the sales and ware rooms of Messrs. Corbett, Failing & Co., yesterday. They cover nearly one-third of a block, and are two stories high with cellars; and the place from cellar to garret is filled with every conceivable article of hardware from a brad to a steamboat shaft [illegible] of shelf hardware, stocks of mechanics' and farmers' tools, immense racks of iron and [illegible] of every shape and size, and of other articles too numerous to mention, enough to [illegible] whose purchasers to buy them all are [illegible] found. In this line alone, there are several large houses besides that of Corbett, Failing & Co., and yet we are informed that there are very few articles in the whole range of [illegible] which have to be carried any great length of time. Most all assortments have to be renewed from two to three or four times a year. [illegible] this connection we may safely advise all dealers of the interior that they cannot purchase anywhere so cheaply as here. There is a recent instance of a man who came here from the interior of [illegible], and after looking around, went to San Francisco where he looked around again, then returned to Portland and purchased everything he wanted for considerably less money than the goods would have cost him below, with freight added. This fact is coming to be pretty generally understood in the interior, and hence the greatly expanded trade of the present year.

ABOUT LICENSES AND TOLLS.—A [illegible] sends us a communication on the way [illegible] growl about the exaction of tolls within the city limits. We do not see that there is any chance to question the right of the Road Company to charge tolls, (they got it from the State Legislature) but we give the correspondent the benefit of his growl. He says: "To-day I paid a license in which are the following words: 'is hereby authorized to use a one horse wagon [illegible] city of Portland, &c.' All right [illegible] when I attempt to drive along the [illegible] the upper part of the city, I have [illegible] the road, and there the license [illegible] authorities is null and void, [illegible] to—and all of this inside of the [illegible] of the city. If this license is [illegible] thority for using a wagon [illegible] what is the use of issuing it? [illegible] have to pay other parties [illegible] privilege of using wagons in [illegible] this license? It is quite a [illegible] when the city authorities [illegible] power should make it effective [illegible] ing of the license goes. [illegible] wrong somewhere, and the [illegible]"

ROPE WALKING FEAT.—[illegible] posted about the city [illegible] rope walking ascension [illegible] o'clock in front of [illegible] effect to draw together [illegible] the hour named. [illegible] ly from the balcony [illegible] Opera House to the [illegible] Vaughn's building [illegible] street. At about [illegible] merly connected [illegible] or clown, or [illegible] upon the balcony, [illegible] blaze of fire [illegible] dow on the opposite [illegible] pause of a half minute [illegible] to the balcony, [illegible] ney to kneel upon the rope. [illegible] plauded greatly by the crowd.

A HAT AND A M[illegible] occurred at the [illegible] ternoon, which [illegible] preciative audience [illegible] belonging to [illegible] wharf, got [illegible] of into the river [illegible] allow a hat [illegible] the guard of the [illegible] down made a grab [illegible] energetic one, [illegible] followed it into the river. [illegible] ing now in the same element [illegible] the man seized the hat and both were [illegible] by the bystanders.

IMPORTANT REVENUE CIRCULAR.—[illegible] of July 13, 1870, concerning the stamping of [illegible] tain canned goods, Commissioner Delano [illegible] circular suspending the requirement [illegible] on packages of prepared mustard [illegible] ups, jams and jellies, under the [illegible] the following Congress would [illegible] tax entirely. The Congress however [illegible] session without doing anything in the matter [illegible] new Commissioner Pleasanton [illegible] a circular to the effect that stamps [illegible] upon the articles above enumerated in [illegible] "C." Dealers would do well to take notice.

CHICKEN LARCENY.—We hear of a case [illegible] northern part of the city, a few nights [illegible] where some chicken thieves stole a watch dog [illegible] away from the premises before night, and then went back in the night and stole over forty fowls, including the [illegible] that were setting. [illegible] chicken thieves. People troubled [illegible] should procure two dogs, and make sure that one of them is of such stuff that he can't be induced to associate with thieves.

AN ECCENTRIC BIRD.—A gentleman of the city informs us that for several days a beautiful "Blue Bird" has repeatedly flown against his window with a good deal of force—[illegible] fact, to endanger not only the bird's life but the glass, but the life of the bird. Nothing daunted however, by the shock it receives, it [illegible] again and again. Ye ornithologists, what do [illegible] novel bird freak a sign of?

TEMPERANCE LECTURE.—Dr. M. P. Merrick will deliver the fifth lecture of a series arranged by Multnomah Lodge of Good Templars [illegible] hall in Carter's building, corner of Front and Alder streets, this evening at half past seven o'clock. Subject, "Alcohol the great murderer of the age." Dr. Merrick enjoys the reputation of being an eloquent and effective speaker. Music by the glee club. The doors will be opened free to all, and everybody is invited to attend.

FOREIGN EXPORTS.—The value of foreign exports per steamship California, which [illegible] Tuesday, was $1,327 14. The foreign manifest showed [illegible] bacon, [illegible] lbs. [illegible] 7 bbl bbls dried apples, [illegible] bags seed wheat, 1,322 qr sks flour, 1 keg lard, [illegible] butter, [illegible] bran, 2 bales Oregon blankets, [illegible] yarn, 5 bales Oregon [illegible] paper and [illegible] ham Cour.

SAILING OF THE WRIGHT FOR SITKA.—The N. P. T. Co's propeller steamship Geo. S. Wright, N. L. Rogers, master, sailed for Sitka via Nanaimo, at [illegible] o'clock P. M. yesterday [illegible] passengers, Wm. Pope, [illegible] district of Alaska, Dr. H. J. [illegible] her freight for Nanaimo [illegible] valued at $327 [illegible] $52 [illegible] for Sitka 240 packages merchandise [illegible] flour.

CHICAGO HOTEL AT KALAMA.—We learn that Mr. Braccc [illegible] purchased, yesterday, one hundred thousand shingles for the Chicago Hotel at Kalama. The building is going forward [illegible] with satisfactory activity.

PERSONAL.—Mr. H. C. Marrill, the secretary of the Northern Pacific Railroad Land [illegible] has [illegible] who went East a few weeks since [illegible] for Portland with his wife and three [illegible] passengers by the Idaho.

CHURCH SERVICES.—Religious services will be held in the Unitarian Church this evening at [illegible] o'clock. There will be a sermon by the pastor on the death of Jesus, and its import to human life.

THE NEXT STEAMER.—We learn through the telegraph that the steamer Idaho sailed from San Francisco on Wednesday.

HARDWARE STOCKS.—Among the most astonishing things which a stranger finds upon his arrival in Portland, are the immense stocks of goods carried by our importers and wholesale dealers. The amount of some of these stocks is surprising, even to those who have lived here for years and who have been tolerably conversant with the commercial affairs of the city. If we were to tell an [illegible] that in our city of 10,000 inhabitants, he could step into a hardware store, for [illegible], and purchase an invoice of almost anything to be found in similar houses in San Francisco or even in New York, he might be inclined to doubt the statement, but it is strictly true. [illegible] our heaviest dealers are large importers [illegible] manufactories, they can and do turn [illegible] for an amount of money no greater [illegible] be required to purchase exactly the [illegible] San Francisco. We went through [illegible] ware rooms of Messrs. Corbett, [illegible] yesterday. They cover something [illegible] of a block, and are two stories [illegible], and the place from "cellar to [illegible]" with every conceivable sort of [illegible] brad to a steamboat shaft—cords [illegible] hardware, stocks of mechanics' and [illegible] tools, immense racks of iron and steel of every shape and size, and of other articles "too [illegible] to mention," enough to raise a wonder [illegible] to buy them all are ever to be [illegible]. In this line alone, there are several very large houses besides that of Corbett, Failing & [illegible], and we are informed that there are but [illegible] articles in the whole range of the stocks [illegible] to be carried any great length of [illegible]. Most all assortments have to be replenished [illegible] two to three or four times a year. In [illegible] we may safely advise all dealers [illegible] that they cannot purchase anything [illegible] here. There is a recent instance of a man who came here from the interior, and after looking around, went to San Francisco [illegible] around again, then returned to [illegible] and purchased everything he wanted, [illegible] less money than the goods would [illegible] him below, with freight added. This [illegible] to be pretty generally understood [illegible], and hence the greatly expanded [illegible] year.

[illegible] LICENSES AND TOLLS.—A grocer of this [illegible] a communication in the way of a [illegible] collection of tolls within the city [illegible] do not see that there is any chance [illegible] the right of the Road Company to [illegible] (they get it from the State Legislature) [illegible] give the correspondent the benefit [illegible]. He says:

I paid a license in which are the following [illegible]—"is hereby authorized and licensed [illegible] one horse wagon public in said [illegible]." All right so far; but [illegible] to drive along the water front of [illegible] of the city, I find a toll gate across [illegible] where the license issued by the city [illegible] null and void, as I have to pay [illegible] all of this inside of the corporate limits. If this license is not sufficient authority [illegible] using a wagon anywhere in the city, [illegible] the use of issuing it? And again, if we [illegible] pay other parties or corporations for the [illegible] of using wagons in the city, why pay [illegible]? It is quite a tax upon us to pay [illegible], and it does appear [illegible] me that [illegible] city authorizes this license the same [illegible] make it effective so far as the wording [illegible] goes. There is something [illegible] and be [illegible] where [illegible] GROCER."

[illegible] WALKING FEAT.—An announcement [illegible] about the city yesterday, that a grand [illegible] would take place at 7 [illegible] of Stewart's Opera House had the [illegible] together several hundred people at [illegible]. A rope was stretched diagonally over the front entrance of the [illegible] House to the window in the top story of [illegible] building on the corner of Morrison [illegible]. At about half past seven John Lee [illegible] with Wilson's circus [illegible] something of that sort, appeared [illegible], and, amid the sputter and [illegible] fire works, made the ascent to the window [illegible] side of the street. After a [illegible] minute or so he retraced his steps [illegible] pausing in the middle of the journey [illegible] upon the rope. The feat was applauded by the crowd.

[illegible] A MAN [illegible] HARBOR.—An incident [illegible] F. P. Co's wharf yesterday afternoon served to amuse a large and appreciative [illegible]. For a few moments a hat, [illegible] a man who was standing on the [illegible] story and just took and tumbled [illegible]. The owner determined not to [illegible] get the best of him, went down on [illegible] of the steamer [illegible], and stooping [illegible] grab for the [illegible]. The grab was an [illegible], so energetic in fact that the man [illegible] into the river. The man and hat became in the same element and on equal terms, [illegible] the hat and both were then fished [illegible] bystanders.

[illegible] REVENUE CIRCULAR.—After the act [illegible] July 14, 1870, concerning the stamping of certain goods, Commissioner Delano issued a [illegible] suspending the requirement to use stamps [illegible] of prepared mustards, sauces, syrups, jellies, under the supposition that Congress would abolish the stamp [illegible]. The Congress, however, passed the [illegible] doing anything in the matter, and [illegible] Pleasanton has recently issued [illegible] to the effect that stamps must be used [illegible] above enumerated in schedule "C." [illegible] would do well to take notice.

LARCENY.—We hear of a case in the [illegible] part of the city, a few nights since, [illegible] chicken thieves stole a watch dog [illegible] the premises before night, and then [illegible] the night and stole over forty fowls, [illegible] hens that were setting. Smart [illegible]. People troubled in that way [illegible] dogs, and make sure that one [illegible] that he can't be induced [illegible] with thieves.

[illegible] BIRD.—A gentleman of this city [illegible] that for several days a beautiful "Blue [illegible]" has repeatedly flown against his chamber [illegible] with a good deal of force—enough, in [illegible] danger not only the breaking of the [illegible] the life of the bird. Nothing daunted, however, by the shock it receives, it tries the feat [illegible] and again. Ye ornithologists, what is this [illegible] freak a sign of? Tell us if you can.

TEMPERANCE LECTURE.—Dr. M. D. Merrick [illegible] deliver the fifth lecture of a series originated by [illegible] Lodge of Good Templars, at their [illegible] building, corner of Front and [illegible] streets, this evening at half-past seven o'clock. Subject, "Alcohol the great moral evil [illegible]." Dr. Merrick enjoys the reputation [illegible] an eloquent and effective speaker. Music by the glee club. The doors will be opened [illegible] to all, and everybody is invited to attend.

FOREIGN EXPORT.—The value of foreign export [illegible] per steamship California, which sailed on Sunday, was $5,221 14. The foreign manifest [illegible] 7 cases bacon, 922 sks middlings, 16 sks [illegible], 7 hlf bbls dried apples, 65 bags seed wheat, [illegible] sks flour, 1 keg lard, 145 sks feed, 1 keg [illegible], 37 sks bran, 2 bales Oregon blankets and [illegible] 5 bales Oregon straw paper and 40 sks Graham flour.

SAILING OF THE WRIGHT FOR SITKA.—The N. P. T. Co's propeller steamship Geo. S. Wright, [illegible] L. Rogers, master, sailed for Sitka via Nanaimo, at 5 o'clock P. M. yesterday. She took as passengers, Wm. Kapus, U. S. Collector for the district of Alaska, Dr. H. J. Phillips, U. S. A., and wife. AMUSEMENTS.

MR. J. H. VINSON'S BENEFIT.—Oro Fino Theater was full last night on the occasion of Mr J. H. Vinson's farewell benefit, and the audience was one of that character the presence of which would do honor to any actor or actress. Mr. Vinson has made many warm friends during his stay in Portland, among the very first ladies and gentlemen of the city, and his friends went to see him last night, in force. The splendid comedy of "Paul Pry" was put on the stage very handsomely, indeed, and the acting of the important characters made it one of the most emphatic successes the company has ever achieved. Mr. Vinson's personation of Col. Hardy is worthy to be ranked among his best efforts, excellent and artistic as many of them have been. It would be hard to conceive a better representative of the blustering, bluff, wilful, wrong-headed, good-hearted, excellent old man of the old English school, bent upon having his own way, even though he could not have his own way in having his own way, than is Mr. Vinson as Col. Hardy. He was often applauded most enthusiastically, from the beginning to the end of the play. The Paul Pry of Mr. Bates was immensely and intensely ludicrous and laughter provoking. Nothing has been presented to a Portland audience for years better in its way than his make-up and personation of the inquisitive, meddlesome, troublesome, mischief making member of society who is always dropping in and hoping he don't intrude, in every circle, everywhere, and at all hours. There was genius in it at every turn. Mrs Bates as Phebe was lively and piquant, a most excellent conspirator and manager of a delicate and difficult plot among lovers. The beneficiary, together with Mr. and Mrs. Bates, were called before the curtain at the close and were received with applause loud and long. Mr. Vinson made a neat, brief speech of thanks and retired with another salvo of applause. It is due to all the minor characters to say that they were, without exception, well sustained, and that they contributed largely to the general success of the piece. We shall hope to see "Paul Pry" again presented before the company shall take its final departure.

Strange Story of Charles Perdu, Under Sentence for Arson at Sea.

[From the New York Standard, March 18th.]

Yesterday morning a reporter of this paper paid a visit to Charles Perdu in his condemned cell in Ludlow street jail, to hear what he had to say respecting his sentence. Perdu was found sitting on his bedside in a pensive manner. His face is a most prepossessing one, with a pair of honest-looking Saxon eyes. The physiognomist can readily discern that he is of a most gentle disposition. Showing the sentence of Judge Woodruff to the writer, he said: "This is an awful state of things, that I, who have borne a character without reproach from my earliest days, should be sentenced to death in [illegible] terms by Judge Woodruff; but the [illegible] constantly to suffer for the [illegible], and I suppose it always will be so." [illegible] when he paused to take breath, [illegible] narrate truthfully and honestly the history of the whole affair. Perdu, with a firm voice, then commenced: We sailed last May with a crew of about thirty, including several green hands. All went on smoothly till June 20th, when the fire broke out. I was asleep at the time, and before I get any further I may as well tell you now, that as truly as God is my maker I am innocent of the awful charge trumped up against me. However to continue—but on the second thought I will give you the history of the affair as I wrote it down, soon after the occurrence.

The alarm of fire was given in the night, on the 20th of July, between the hours of 9 and 10 o'clock, when the fire was discovered to be in the fore hold. All hands commenced to draw water. I was drawing water in the forechains until daylight. The next morning the mate, Winslow, came to me and said, "Come over here, you ——, and hoist in this whip" (a single rope to hoist in a barrel of water at a time). When I got there he commenced to beat me on the head and face with a thick rope, until the blood blinded me and I fell down exhausted. Then he beat me still until I got up to pull on the rope again, and he said that I was the man that set the ship on fire, and I said I was not. I was not then allowed by him to satisfy the calls of nature. I fell down with fatigue at last under the mens feet that were pulling on the rope with me. He then sent me aft to the main chains to draw water with a bucket, and then the captain came to me and said, "You set fire to the ship, for I knew you were a scoundrel when you first came on board the ship." I then told him I did not set fire to the ship, and did not know anything about it. I then went for a drink of water, and the captain knocked the cup out of my hand and told me that he would not let me drink, and told me he would shoot me if I did not hurry and draw water again.

I continued drawing water for about one and a half hours, when the mate and captain came to me again and beat me in the head and face with their revolvers. The mate said, "I'll lay your head open before you leave this ship." Then a man had to draw water in my place, for I could not see for quite a good while. Then the second mate, Landry, came and beat me with a rope on my back and head, so that I cold hardly hold my head up, along with having to draw water. He then went and got a handspike and beat me with it on the head until I hung in a bight of a rope over the ship. He then swore an oath that he would scatter my brains over the rigging before I left where I stood. After about fifteen minutes' spell, we had to go down and pump ship for five hours. The next morning at daylight, I, with two others, was sent to the pump. The second mate beat me until I fell over on the rail, and made us work for two hours, and would not let us take a drink of water; and, during the time, he drove one man overboard; then turned round to me—"I'll drive you next!" and kept on beating me at the same time. The man drowned was John W. Jenson, a native of Copenhagen, who belonged to a good family at that place, I believe.

I told the mate I knew nothing about the fire, I was asleep in my bunk when it happened. Sailors were smoking down there constantly, and a Sandwich Islands man used to sew there at night. The lights taken there were never covered, which would vitiate the insurance, if known. The green hands were very careless about fire, also. The brutal mate, Winslow, has an ungovernable temper. He can read, but can't write. The oaths he used to give vent to made me shudder. I do not think the captain was naturally a tyrant and cruel, but he let his mates do as they like. A single word from him would have altered their conduct. I am never ashamed or afraid to tell the truth, thank God. Let them hang me if they will.

My two companions, who have been sentenced for ten years' imprisonment each, pleaded guilty by the advice of their lawyers, as those gentlemen will admit, to avoid running the risk of being ordered to be hung like me. Great God! when you are brutalized by ruffianly officers, who kept hitting me to make me say that I had done the deed, would you not, Mr. Reporter, say as they wanted you to? Why, you couldn't help yourself. I consider that I have been given away, and that most treacherously. I maintain that the acknowledgment obtained from me was gained by coercion, and while I was in fear for my life. What kind of a ship is that where two men jump overboard?

The Dane, as he was clearing the bulwarks, was struck at by the mate; he said, "Oh, my God, I can't stand it any longer. Write to my poor, dear mother, shipmates. Good bye, God bless you!" The captain refused to allow a boat to be lowered to save him. The other man who jumped over was saved. Now this is what I said and for which I am to swing: "You wouldn't believe me when I told the truth, and now I did all you accuse me of. You can do with me as you please." Upon my saying this, Landry, the second mate, asked permission of the captain to blow my brains out; and when he refused, Landry hit me over the head with a marlinspike; my eyes were filled with blood. There were two men who saw this and other horrors practiced on me, but Acting Vice Consul Cardozo refused to let them come on to New York to testify in my behalf. I tell you, sir, we had no show. Why, we have been convicted by the evidence of the boy Duncan, and such evidence!

Personally I have no ill feeling against the captain. I regret that he and his officers should have perjured themselves in the Court as they did.

As we came home on the Brazilian steamer South America, we were treated as if we were not human. Turklepan is the captain. Well, we were chained down by ringbolts to the deck. The heat was awful. The decks were burning, and there we were, scorched to death. We had no place to sleep in. At Para they chained us like wild beasts on the tops of the paddle-wheels, exposed to the full blaze of the tropical sun. They are no men on board that ship. When we arrived at quarantine the captain sneeringly remarked to Dr Carnochan: "These men were all formerly on the Alabama." To go back for a moment, there is no evidence against me. Search the records—nothing but the words of that little rascal Duncan, who turned State's evidence.

Go to O'Neil & Co's, if you want a coat
Made of wool, from the finest sheep or Cashmere goat,
Or the best fitting pants, or the nicest vest—
There's where you will always get the very best.
They have all kinds of goods that gentlemen need,
Cloth, silk, cashmere, cattore, linen and tweed—
If you'll all get a suit and plank down the cash
They'll sell to you cheap if it breaks them to smash!

SPRING STYLES.—KOHN & FISHEL, as usual, are the first to fill their store with the new Spring Styles of Clothing and Furnishing Goods. Their stock is very large, and their goods of the best quality, and latest styles. Messrs. Kohn & Fishel buy their goods in large quantities, consequently, get them at low rates and can afford to sell cheap, which they intend to do.

They respectfully invite their friends and patrons to give them a call.

BARBOUR'S LINEN THREAD is nicely put up in boxes, and with special reference to the Retail Trade, so that all numbers may be sold at one price.

BARBOUR'S CARPET THREAD is unequalled for strength and evenness of thread. Try it and be convinced of its superior qualities.

IF YOU FEEL dull, drowsy, despondent, debilitated, have frequent headache, mouth tastes badly, poor appetite, and tongue coated, you are suffering from torpid liver, or "Biliousness." Nothing will cure you so speedily and permanently as Dr. Pierce's Alt Ext. or Golden Medical Discovery. It also cures all severe lingering Coughs, and tones up and strengthens the whole system. Sold by druggists. To avoid Counterfeits see that Dr Pierce's private U. S. Government Stamp is on the outside wrapper.

Be Guided by what you Know.

There is an old proverb which says, "Experience is the safest guide." To this guide the sick and ailing naturally turn when casting about for the means of relief. They inquire what a medicine has done for others, before they adopt it themselves. Of all the remedies and preventives in use, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters meets the test most triumphantly, and hence its immense popularity and vast sales. The sufferer from indigestion is sure to find some one among his friends who has been cured of that ailment by the famous vegetable stomachic. The victim of fever and ague, liver complaint, constipation, nervous prostration or general debility, has only to make inquiry in the neighborhood where he resides in order to discover what this standard restorative has effected in cases similar to his own. In the published testimony to its merits he will find a volume of proofs of its sanitary properties, which it is impossible for his common sense to resist. He tries it, and the effect it produces on his system adds another to the host of witnesses in its favor. Thus, its reputation, founded on facts not assertions, continually grows and spreads. Charlatans and impostors, some of them mere local tricksters, and others who take a somewhat wider range, attempt to thrust into the hands and down the throats of invalids, their haphazard concoctions, as substitutes for the tonic which for so many years has been a medicinal staple throughout the United States, Spanish America, Canada and the West Indies, but only succeed to a very limited extent. In this reasoning age, the people, having ascertained what is really deserving of their confidence, decline "running after strange gods."

Stevens and Lincoln.

[From Forney's Press.]

The public man with a reputation for wit is apt to become responsible for all the best jokes, old and new. Many a Joe Miller was and is still credited to Thaddeus Stevens and Abraham Lincoln. Things they never said, now that both are gone, are boldly laid upon their memories. But no two men, perhaps, so entirely different in character, ever threw off more spontaneous jokes. Mr. Stevens rarely told a story. He was strong in repartee, in retort, in quiet interrogatory. He must have been terrible at the cross-examination of a witness. There is nothing finer, I think, in the annals of humor than his quaint question to David Reese and John Chauncey, the two officers of the House who in his last days used to carry him in a large arm-chair from his lodgings across the public grounds up the broad stairs of the noble Capitol, "Who will be so good to me and take me up in their strong arms when you two mighty men are gone?" Here was not only uncommon wit, but a sense of intellectual immortality. A consciousness of superiority of another sort was his answer to John Hickman, who called as Stevens laid on his bed, when he felt the grip of the grim messenger fastening on him. Hickman told the old man he was looking well. "Ah, John!" was his quick reply, "it is not my appearance, but my disappearance that troubles me." A member of the House, who was known for his uncertain course on all questions, and who often confessed that he never fully investigated a mooted point without finding himself a neutral, asked for leave of absence. "Mr. Speaker," said Stevens, "I do not rise to object, but to suggest that the honorable member need not ask this favor, for he can easily pair off with himself." He was charitable, but never ostentatiously so. "Oh, sir!" said a beggar woman to him one cold morning as he was limping to the House, "Oh, sir! I have just lost all the money I had in the world." "And how much was that?" "Oh, sir! it was seventy-five cents." "You don't say so," was the old man's answer, as he put a five dollar bill in her hands; "and how wonderful it is that I should have just found what you had lost!"

Shortly after I was elected Clerk of the House, in 1860, a lady friend, since deceased, called my attention to the fact that the wife of one of her best servants, Sam., was about to be sent away from him to Georgia, and that unless over eight hundred dollars could be raised for her in forty-eight hours, her master, living at Georgetown, D. C., would be sure to sell her to strangers. The case was a terrible one. Sam. was a fine fellow, and his distress was grievous. I sat down and wrote out the facts, headed the subscription, and in a few hours raised the money, paying over three hundred dollars myself. The papers were made out to me, and I set the woman free. "Well," said Mr. Stevens, as he paid [illegible] fifty dollars, "this is the first time I ever [illegible] of a Democrat buying a negro and then giving her her liberty."

He affected much indignation when President Lincoln consigned Roger A. Pryor to [illegible] sort of prisoner-guest in 1865, and [illegible]ly every morning would meet me with [illegible] remark: "How is your Democratic [illegible], Pryor? I hope you are both [illegible]." I was a little annoyed by his sarcasm, [illegible] when an appeal was made to me [illegible] citizen to assist in pardoning an [illegible] Confederate, I referred him to Mr. Stevens. [illegible] he happened to know the great Commoner, [illegible] and went over to him with my message. [illegible] judge of my surprise when he returned [illegible] the proposition that whatever I wrote [illegible] Stevens) would sign. I dictated the strongest appeal to the President, and Mr. Stevens [illegible] his name to it. Of course I endorsed the petition; but I did not fail to remind my neighbor that very day of his inconsistency. [illegible] you need not be so riled [illegible] was the retort; "I saw you were [illegible] into the pardon business, and thought [illegible] take a hand in it myself."

Mr. Lincoln was a humorist of another school. He delighted in parables and stories. His treasuries of memory were inexhaustible. He never failed for an illustration. He liked [illegible] short farce better than the five act tragedy. He would [illegible] about with laughter over a French, German or negro anecdote, and he was always ready to match the best with a better. More than once, when I bore a message [illegible] from the Senate, he detained me with some amusing sketch of western life. [illegible] have read the character, and to [illegible] peculiarities of every leading man [illegible] Congress and the country, and would play off many an innocent joke upon them. I [illegible] not attempt to repeat what has been so often described. There was also a sacred confidence and many of those scenes which could not be violated without offense to many living good men; and as I do not write to wound the feelings I will not profane an illustrious memory by reviving what would only give unnecessary pain.

His two inaugurations were accompanied [illegible] apprehensions of his assassination, and the second was followed in a little more than a month by his murder. At the inauguration March 4, 1861, I was present as Clerk of the House. At the inauguration of March 4, 1865, I was present as Secretary of the Senate. James Buchanan, as ex-President, heard the remarkable first message of the man who succeeded him, just as Andrew Johnson heard the still more remarkable inauguration [illegible] he succeeded. War followed the [illegible] and assassination the other. The [illegible] in the Senate of the United States on [illegible] of March, 1865, when Andrew Johnson was sworn in as Vice President, has too [illegible] printed to be set out into daylight again. Let it rest. I refer to it now only to [illegible] one incident. After we reached the [illegible] and middle portico of the Capitol, [illegible] Mr. Lincoln took the oath, Johnson [illegible] in a state of great excitement, and [illegible] immediate charge. I was confident, [illegible] that he would be subdued before [illegible] finished his inaugural. To the [illegible] of everybody, however, except, perhaps, the Cabinet, Mr. Lincoln did not consume [illegible] minutes in repeating it. As soon [illegible] outside saw that he was done, [illegible] were raised for Johnson, upon [illegible] hastily retreated to the Senate [illegible] and closed the unhappy and inauspicious [illegible]. On the 14th of the succeeding [illegible] the murder, planned four [illegible], and baffled by superior foresight, was executed, and Abraham Lincoln [illegible] from the pistol shot of Booth.

FINANCE AND COMMERCE.

PORTLAND, April 6, 1871.

Gold at New York, 110¾.

Currency quotations at Portland 90½c buying; 91½c selling.

Exchange—On San Francisco, ½ per cent.; on New York, 1½ per cent.; telegraphic transfers, 1¾ per cent.

Interest on 30 to 90 day loans, 1 per cent.; outside rates are 1@2 per cent.

The money supply is sufficient for ordinary business transactions. The demand for investment in real estate has become very considerable, operating to advance the rates of interest in some instances, on long term loans.

The past week has shown a very fair business in nearly all lines of trade. There are quite a number of buyers from the interior on the market, and most of the wholesale dealers are kept busy.

AGRICULTURAL GOODS—Nothing new in this line, except large receipts of stocks per barkentine Amelia and other recent arrivals.

DRY GOODS—We observe that the heavy jobbers are turning out large orders, for all quarters, of spring goods. Prices are without essential change.

HARDWARE—In this line we note a very good trade, indeed the aggregate of sales being far in excess of anything done in the corresponding periods of former years. There is not only an unusually large demand for building hardware in this city, but there are some large buyers from both the Wallamet valley and Eastern Oregon. During the week considerable shipments have been made to Harrisburg, Eugene and other points near the head of the valley; and the roads having become hard enough to enable teams to get in from Yamhill and Washington, some considerable bills have been supplied to those counties. Prices remain firm and there is not apparently any tendency to weaken, except it may be in rope, which is easing off a little in favor of the buyer.

GROCERIES—A good trade is apparent with very slight changes in prices. Coffee continues to decline slightly, and Japan teas are a little lower.

PRODUCE—Wheat has advanced ab ut 2½c all round for good shipping lots in sacks. Oats have gone up 2½c per 100 lbs, and are firm at the advance. Barley is also higher, in about the same proportion. Feed of all descriptions has been advanced from $2.50 to $3.00 per ton. Dried apples are scarce, and hence an advance to 9½c per lb.

PROVISIONS—The bacon market has a firmer tone this week, and favorite brands are in good request. Lard has advanced a trifle.

Cheap Water Pipe.

"THE ASPHALTUM PRESSURE PIPE COMPAny," of San Francisco, having purchased of the patentees the sole right to manufacture on this coast, are now making an article at their works, at Alameda Point, that will supply the general want of a cheap and durable water pipe. The invention originated in France, where these pipes are extensively used, as well as in Germany; in fact, all over Europe, almost entirely superseding for all ordinary purposes the use of iron. It is no new thing, having been in use twenty years.

Its Durability.

Being imperishable and insensible to atmospheric influences or chemical properties of the earth, it never changes, and is consequently much more durable than iron, which corrodes, and in time leaks.

It is a Non-Conductor,

And will not freeze except at a remarkably low temperature, and even then its expansive power is greater than that of frozen water. In warm weather it acts as a cooler for water passing through it.

Neutrality to Acids and Alkalis.

This pipe is not affected by acids and alkalis, nor is it affected by galvanic currents—consequently is invaluable in conducting telegraph wires under ground through tunnels and under bridges.

Elasticity.

The elasticity of this pipe prevents its bursting from outward shocks or concussions. The interior of the pipes being glazed, are as smooth as porcelain and consequently are never clogged by adhering sediment.

Lightness.

The mean weight of these pipes to iron is as one to five, which not only facilitates handling, but reduces the cost of transportation.

Laying the Pipe

Is a simple matter—can be laid by any laboring man of ordinary intelligence; but the Company, if required, will always furnish a competent person, free of expense, to oversee the proper laying of the pipe. Contracts taken for any required length of pipe from water or mining companies, and warranted to stand according to contract.

Pipe Under Pressure

Can be seen at the office of the Company. We are the only parties manufacturing this pipe on the Pacific Coast under this patent. All other offered is spurious and an infringement.

Cheapness.

The cost when laid, including connections, is about one-quarter that of lead and one-half that of iron.

We manufacture this pipe in lengths of twelve feet, and ship it everywhere, by all sorts of conveyances—no special care being required. We manufacture it of any size from one to twelve inches.

Pressure.

We manufacture according to the pressure required from 1 to 600 pounds to the inch, and guarantee it to stand the pressure.

Prices.

1 inch, 10 cents per foot
2 inch, 20 " "
3 inch, 30 " "
4 inch, 40 " "
5 inch, 50 " "
6 inch, 60 " "
8 inch, $1 00 " "
10 inch, $1 25 " "
12 inch, $1 50 " "

For pipe capable of resisting a pressure of 160 lbs. to the square inch.

This pipe being made of a combination of paper, canvas, and asphaltum, in lengths of twelve feet, should not be confounded with moulded asphaltum pipe in lengths of four feet.
